McCall Confers With the President—He Is Understood to Have Assured Major McKinley That Plenty of Money Would Be Furnished the Government, In Case of War.

Washington, April 7.—Those members of congress who have been taking part in the radical movement and who always admit the possibility that the time may come when they will have to part company with the president on the Cuban question are, according to the leaders of the movement, more determined than ever to ultimately obtain what they desire. They, however, are at present satisfied with the assurances they have received as to the character of the president's message. But this has not prevented them from organizing for possible contingencies.

However, they accept the president's explanation as to why he did not send in the message in good faith.

The conference which was to have been held last night, after the message was in, was abandoned, but 50 of those who originally inaugurated the movement met immediately after the house adjourned to discuss the situation. All who were not heartily in sympathy with them were invited to leave. Those at the meeting unanimously agreed to wait upon the message, but the movement for a caucus started by the president's supporters, which was also abandoned, exposed to them a danger upon which they had not reckoned, namely, that a cancus of Republicans might be called to bind them by the party action and place them in the position of bolters if the occasion arose for them to adopt an independent plan of action. A committee of nine was therefore appointed to count noses, to watch the situation and to devise ways and means to meet any tactics of the opposition.

The committee is as follows:

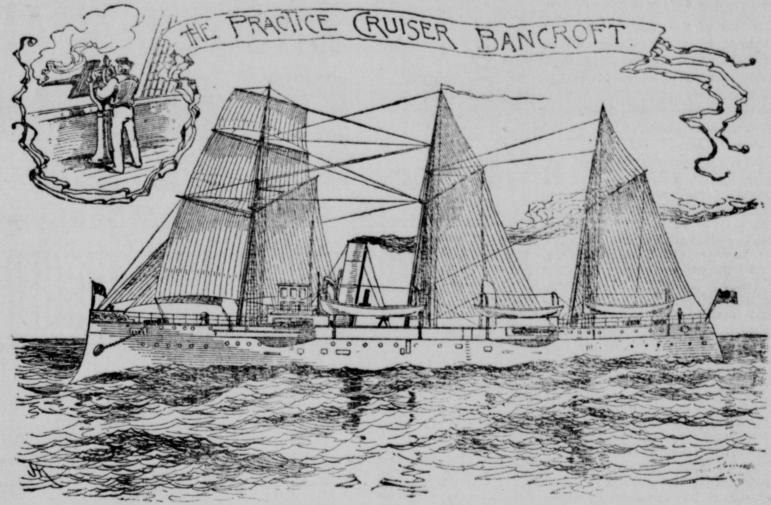

Messrs, Hopkins of Illinois, Lorrimer of Illinois, Tawney of Minnesota, Cooper of Wisconsin, Hepburn of Iowa, Bromwell of Ohio, Joy of Missouri and Knox of Massachusetts.

Several other vigorous speeches in denunciation of any policy of delay were made in the course of the meeting, one by Mr. Smith of Illinois. In order to emphasize this position, a proposition was made to unite with the Democrats and block all legislation, adjourning from day to day until the message appeared and the house had acted on the Cuban resolutions. But Mr. Hull of lowa, who is pushing the army reorganization bill, made such an ardent plea to allow that bill to come to a vote that the proposition was temporarily abandoned. Whether it will be revived depends largely upon the course of

It can be stated, however, that it is seriously contemplated. One of the other chief developments was the probability that in the event of a split on the Republican side the Democrats would unite with the radicals and allow the latter to force the issue. If the Democrats should assume the aggressive the chances are they would solidify the Republicans against them.

Senators were inclined to criticise because our citizens had not been removed from Cuba heretofore, while others declared protection for them should have been sent to Havana. "It is a humiliating spectacle," said Senator Quay of Pennsylvania, "that with our fleet within 90 miles of Havana we are not able to protect our people in that port."

both sides of the senate chamber were free in their expression of opinion that there was some motive for the delay that did not appear on the surface.

The conservative senators did not find encouragement in the situation. "The publication of the fact of danger to Americans in Cuba," caid one of them, "will set the country afiame and the war uprit will be more rampant than ever."

The Washington Post says: "The president's message has been changed in that it will ask congress to authorize and direct immediate intervention. Otherwise the message will stand as heretofore outlined and as The Post stated on Tuesday morning, it will be of such a vigorous, ringing character as to meet the full expectations of congress and the country. It will inevitably mean war. Hostilities can only be averted by Spain herself declaring the independence of Cuba and yielding her sovereignty over the island,

"Negotiations with Spain have not been reopened by the United States and will not be. The queen regent has not sent a persona! message to the president making a new proposal for peace. With the influences now at work through foreign diplomatic channels to bring about a settlement of the difficulties between Spain and her rebellious subjects in Cuba this government has absolutely nothing to do. The administration and congress stand pledged to the freedom of Cuba, and will accept no solution that does not involve the withdrawal of Spanish troops from the island and the hauling down of the Spanish flag.

"The five great powers have not sent a joint note to the United States counsel."

The president has had a long conference, by appointment, with John A. McCall of New York, Mr. McCall is understood to have assured the president that the government would be put to no embarrassment by a lack of money with which to prosecute a war. While he deprecated war and hoped that it might be averted, if it could not be the whole people of the country would stand by the president in maintaining a just contest.

It is said upon excellent authority that Mr. McCall expressed to the president his belief that within 48 hours he could raise among the financial institutions of New York alone $300,000,000 which the government could have upon its own terms, and that if a popular subscription were called for $500,000,000 could be obtained in a few days.

Mr. McCall said that he did not care to discuss his interview with the president. "As to a war loan," said he, "we will not cross that bridge until we get to it. Everybody ought to deplore war, but when the president says war is inevitable, the people will stand solidly with him. He can have all the money he wants."

The proposed armistice by Spain injected another feature into the discussion of the situation, and, while some were very hopeful that a satisfactory solution of the problem might eventuate from it, the general feeling was that the conditions in Cuba, the determination of the insurgents to continue fighting until independence was recognized and the sentiment of this country in fivor of Cuba's independence of Spain possibly made overtures on this line too

A CUBAN THREAT

TO REPEL OUR ACTION.

We Must First Recognize Their Independence or They Will Resist Intervention.

New York, April 7.—The Cuban Ruebens, has made an important statement. It declared in the most unequivocal language that the Spanish provisional government would reject any intervention by the United States unless it should be preceded by a recognition of independence of the Cuban republic; but that if the United States persisted in intervening without recognizing Cuban independence, the Cuban government and military forces would refuse to co-operate; and that if United States troops should be sent to Cuba upon the basis of intervention without recognition, the Cuban army would in the last resort turn its arms against the United States.

Said he: "I have from a Spanish authority high in financial circles heard that it has been agreed between Spain and the United States that this government, while declaring for intervention, shall refuse to recognize the independence of Cuba. It is mutually hoped by the two governments that the Cubans will then become convinced that the object for which they have been fighting all these years-independence-cannot be obtained, and that they will accept perforce, first, an armistice, and, eventually, autonomy under the Spanish flag. A part of the program is that congress shall empower the president to intervene, but shall not direct him to do so The object of this will be to gain ample time in which to persuade the Cubans to make terms directly with Spain. I assert again that this information is trustworthy, and it explains what has seemed inexplicable—the optimistic tone still observable among prominent officials both at Washington and Madrid, despite the strong sentiment for forcible intervention prevailing both throughout the nation and in congress. Incidentally, also, it accounts for the tone of the stock market both here and abroad and the apparent firmness of Spanish

"The Cubans will not trust the United States first to obtain possession and then to grant Cuban independence. The very fact that recognition is expressly withheld now implies the possibility that it may be permanently with-held. In fact, we more than half know what to expect in the event of the United States becoming the master of the island. A plebescite would follow; the people would be permitted to choose between allegiance to Spain under the forms of autonomy, independence and annexation to the United States and the presence and pressure of federal force would determine the election iu favor of annexation. The Cubans are resolved to make no such farcical apparent choice for themselves. They will make only an absolute free choice, and that choice has been, is and will be one thing only -absolute independence. They will not have the United States stop in the the eleventh hour of their self-sacrificing struggle against tyranny recorded in all history and reap the fruits of it. saddling us, among other things, with the financial cost of its unwelcome intervention.

"We should infinitely prefer hands off' than that the United States should intervene without recognition of Cuban independence. There are 40,000 Cuban guerillas to oppose such intervention. But, of course, we hope for better things. We expect, even, that congress will upset this clever scheme of Spain and our executive, and declare, first, our independence, and then intervention to secure it."

Rome, April 7.—It is semi-officially announced here that the Spanish government has accepted the principle of an armistice with the insurgents, as prepared by the pope. President Mc-Kinley's reply is now awaited. Upon it depends the possibility of continuing the negotiations at Madrid and Washington. It is believed the powers will now take joint action to prevent a rupture.

Archbishop Ireland has cabled to the pope that mediation is almost impossible in consequence of the resistance of public opinion. His holiness is much grieved by this check to his good intentions.

The Cuban insurgents, it is said, have cabled to the European committee that they will not agree to an armistice or disarmament unless Cuban independence is proclaimed.

NAVAL MEN DISAPPOINTED.

Captain Sampson Still Hopes His Fleet Will Get to Fight.

KEY WEST, April 7.—Intense disappointment was exhibited by all hands on board the flagship New York when the bulletin regarding a reported settlement at Madrid was read. It had been confidently believed the fleet would sail today or tomorrow for Havana or Porto Rico, and the pacific news came like a bombshell.

Captain Sampson believes that there is still a chance that the American navy may have an opportunity to show what it is made of, but he regrets the delay, which will probably enable Spain to bring her torpedo flotilla and other warships to these waters. All the high naval authorities on board maintain that Chain there's not be allowed to bring her forces over pending a settlement.

THE YUKON REGION.

CONSUL BITTINGER'S REPORT ON THE DANGERS IN THAT DISTRICT.

Experienced Miners Strip the Klondike of Its Allurements - Mr. Christie Claims Only Hardy Men Should Under ake the Journey-Gold Output Is Exaggerated.

"Dangers of the Yukon Region" is the subject of a report from Consul General John L. Bittinger at Montreal to the department of state. Major Bittinger writes:

"At the recent session in Montreal of the Federated Mining institute of the Dominion of Canada two experienced, practical miners, who have spent several years in the Yukon gold regions, were present and gave expression to views in regard to affairs in that country that may be of interest to people who contemplate going there.

"Mr. Christie, the principal speaker, declared that under present conditions there were too many people in the district now, and those who were physically and intellectually unfitted to cope with the hardships of pioneer life should not venture their chances in the wild scramble. He gave it as his opinion, based on his own experience and personal observation at Dawson, that many of the glowing reports which reached civilization in regard to the Ends of gold were largely exaggerated. Es had passed into the country over the Skaguay trail, and the difficulties were so great as to be almost insurmountable to many. There were crevices and holes in which the pack horses got stuck, and he had seen them go down out of sight, packs and all, in the mud. He knew of something like 3,000 horses being lost there and had himself contributed 30 of that "He said he had known many men who had started out altogether unprovided and yet had managed to make their way to the goldfields, while, on the other hand, some of those who had set out supplied with everything that seemed necessary for the journey had failed to get through and bad abandoned the undertaking. To seek gold in the Klendike, he declared, men of hardy physique were needed. Professional men and clerks he regarded as unfit to endure the hardships of the trip and the life in the Klondike region.

"In conclusion Mr. Christie said that the pictures of the Klondike wealth bad been largely overcolored, and many of the reports regarding rich finds had been sent out by parties in order to enhance the price of their claims. He did not believe they would ship $70,000,000 in gold out of that country this year, or anything like that sum. The production of gold there, he said was bound to be more or less limited, owing to the natural disadvantages attending mining

"Mr. Fred Hyde, who represented what is called the 'first 300' of 1886, and who had been associated with Joseph Ladue and other well known pioneers of the Yukon, corroborated the views expressed by Mr. Christie, and said that the immense rush of gold seekers to that country was a great mistake, and must result in disaster to thousands. The number of people going from the eastern provinces of Canada to the Klondike region is not near so large as the inflow from the United States."-St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

BEER DRINKING FEAT.

Nelson Knutsen Drank 168 Glasses of the Beverage In One Day.

Nelson Knutsen of St. Louis, inspired by the attempt of the Hon. Abe Slupsky to convert himself into a beer vat, drank 168 glasses of beer the other day and won a wager of $40 that he could not drink 120 glasses in a day.

Knutsen began drinking at 9 a. m. He drank 15 glasses and took a rest. Then he began drinking again, and at noon he had made away with 65 glasses and was still sober. He had business up town and left to attend to this, returnbeer. During the trip up town he drank eight or ten glasses of beer, but this did not count on the wager, says the St. Louis Republic.

Close count was kept, and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon he had drunk 120 glasses and was still as sober as the proverbial judge. He did not appear to think that he had performed such a wonderful feat, for he offered to make another wager of $100 to $50 that he could repeat the performance before 12 o'clock. There were no takers, so Mr. Knutsen continued to drink just to pass away the time.

Knutsen is about 40 years of age, and, strange to say, is not a regular beer drinker. He says that for days he never touches the beverage, and when he does drink it is only five or six glasses each day. He said he did not feel the effect of the many beers any more than a fullness such as he would have if he had eaten a bird dinner.

Each Wants to Be Mayor of Leetonia

ONE HAD A MAJORITY OF ONE

Then the Other Took the Case to Probate Court Where it Will be Heard by a Jury Next Wednesday-Tickets Were Placed In the Wrong Box.

LISBON, April 7 .- [Special]-John A. Greenamyer was last Monday elected mayor by Leetonia, having received one more vote than his cousin, M. S. Greenamyer, who has formally asked the probate court to decide whether the election officials have done as they should.

The petition was filed today, and says that John was the candidate of the Demoeratic party. When the votes were counted he was declared elected because 342 votes had been put in the box for him, while his cousin, the Republican candidate, received 341. By some mistake the judges placed four of the regular village ballots in the box set apart for the reception of votes for members of the board of education. Three of these were for M. S. Greenamyer and one for John. Instead of being counted the votes were thrown out. Had they been listed, M. S. Greenamyer would have been elected mayor by one vote.

The case will be heard April, 13, and M. T. Nace, P. M. Armstrong and Richardson Arter have been summoned as a jury. The fight is a bitter one, and is the outgrowth of an unusually bitter campaign.

TIGER AND BULL.

A Fierce Battle, In Which the Tiger Was Badly Beaten.

The Paris letter of the London Post gives details of an extraordinary entertainment given at the Plaza de Madrid in the presence of 1,300 spectators. This was a combat between a royal Bengal tiger and an Andalusian fighting bull. The tiger, Cesar, was a full grown brute belonging to Spessardi, the trainer, who had never been able to do anything with it and had, indeed, once nearly fallen a victim to its ferocity. boating are fine, the large fleet of boats He sold it for 6,000 francs to the director God make two and two equal five?" he

A cage 17 yards square by 4 in height had been erected in the middle of the arena, and the animals were brought on in vans, the bull being the first to be released into the inclosure. The brute immediately began to run round and round his prison, bellowing and throwing up sand and gravel with his hoofs.

The instant the tiger entered the cage avoiding the horns, and fixed on his flanks and belly with both teeth and claws. The bull remained still for a few seconds, and then seemed to be sinking backward to the ground. The spectators thought that all was over, but the tiger let go for a second to take another hold, and in the brief interval was kicked over by the wild plunges of the bull. Before the tiger had time to recover the bull was on him, and, sinking his horns into the striped hide, it tossed the tiger into the air. This was repeated four or five times, the bull varying his tactics occasionally by banging his adversary against the bars. When the bull stopped, the tiger lay limp on the ground, and the crowd, limp on the ground, and the crowd, —i. e., "hot furnace"—was given by proached and smelled him. But Cesar was only shamming death and seized the bull's muzzle in his powerful jaws so the animal could not move. Eventually, however, he was released, and after stamping furiously on the tiger again caught him on his horns. This time the tossing, stamping and banging apparently really ended in Cesar's death. The cage was then opened, and the bull rushed ont and back to his stable. For precau ion's sake the tiger's van was brought up, and, to the general surprise, Cenar rose to his feet, glanced round as it afraid the bull was still there, and then bounded into the van. The tiger was found to have five ribs broken, be sees having a number of wounds from the bull's horns. IN RED AND GOLD.

How sweet she looked I did not see The glint of sun on changing tree. My eyes were fixed upon the glow On her fair cheek. I did but know That she was standing nigh to me But she in silent ecstasy Drank in the color and the glow Of that fair scene, nor seemed to know That (all its beauty lost on me', I gazed on her and could but see How sweet she looked.

"In red and gold," she sighed "how fair The coloring of those maples there!" But still my eyes did but behold The beauty that did her enfold. For, with that vision standing there, In dull red gown and golden hair, Small care had I what beauties rare What other wealth that wood might hold

TIGER AND BULL.

A Fierce Battle, In Which the Tiger Was Badly Beaten.

The Paris letter of the London Post gives details of an extraordinary enterhalls are equipped with all required tainment given at the Plaza de Madrid paraphernalia; the large auditorium in in the presence of 1,300 spectators. This which the Assembly meets, and in which was a combat between a royal Bengal tiger and an Andalusian fighting bull. The tiger, Cesar, was a full grown brute belonging to Spessardi, the trainer, who had never been able to do anything with it and had, indeed, once nearly fallen a victim to its ferocity. He sold it for 6,000 francs to the director of the plaza. had been erected in the middle of the arena, and the animals were brought on in vans, the bull being the first to be released into the inclosure. The brute immediately began to run round and round his prison, bellowing and throwing up sand and gravel with his hoofs.

The instant the tiger entered the cage avoiding the horns, and fixed on his flanks and belly with both teeth and claws. The bull remained still for a few seconds, and then seemed to be sinking backward to the ground. The spectators thought that all was over, but the tiger let go for a second to take another hold, and in the brief interval was kicked over by the wild plunges of the bull. Before the tiger had time to recover the bull was on him, and, sinking his horns into the striped hide, it tossed the tiger into the air. This was repeated four or five times, the bull varying his tactics occasionally by banging his adversary against the bars. When the bull stopped, the tiger lay thinking by sens doad oried "Bravo.

The bull stood stamping for a moment in the middle of the cage, and than seeing the tiger did not move. approached and smelled him. But Cesar was only shamming death and seized the bull's muzzle in his powerful jaws so the animal could not move. Eventually, however, he was released, and after stamping furiously on the tiger again caught him on his horns. This time the tossing, stamping and banging apparently really ended in Cesar's death. The cage was then opened, and the bull rushed out and back to his stable. For precau ion's sake the tiger's van was brought up, and, to the general surprise, Cent rose to his feet, glanced round as it airaid the bull was still there, and then bounded into the van. The tiger says found to have five ribs broken, be sees having a number of wounds from the bull's horns. It is said that all wald animals-bears, lions, panthers are tigers-fare badly in combat with the Spanish fighting bull. Man and the elephant are the only sure victors over these active and ferocious

Here is a Sioux City (Ia.) Sunday school story

They were studying in the catechism about the wonderful greatness and power of God. "Can God do everything?" asked the teacher. It was generally admitted that he could. Then the teacher rather mischievously propounded a stickler perhaps as a test of faith. "Could God make two and two equal five?" he asked. The query rather startled the A cage 17 yards square by 4 in height little girls in the class, and their faces took on a worried, puzzled expression. They had never thought of such a thing as that, and it looked as if their faith was wavering. The teacher waited with a rather amused smile on his face. Then up shot a little hand. "Well," asked the teacher, "what do you think about it?" "Yes, sir, he can," was the prompt and certain response. Now it was the teacher's turn to look surprised. "Well, how can God make two and two equal five?" "By adding one," was the triumphant answer, and the mischievous teacher couldn't dispute it. - Sioax City Journal.

THE observance of Arbor day has almost become a dead letter in Ohio in spite of the proclamation issued regularly by the gentleman who happens to be governor. Just why this should be no good reason is given, but if the people of the interior could but see the Ohio at its height and note the damage caused year after year, they would obey the injunction of the governor, and by planting trees do what they could to prevent reoccurences of these floods.

WHERE REFORM IS NEEDED.

If the people of Ohio will carefully look over the work of the legislature they will not be long in reaching the conclusion that reform is needed and the place to begin is in the selection of lawmakers.

Ohio is a great state, and within its borders are many great men, but few of them found their way to this legislature. Instead that body seems to be made up of individuals who have little ambition beyond that to be realized by a pleasant stay in Columbus at the expense of the state. A great mass of bills have been dumped into the hopper, and some have been enacted into law, but among them all there is not one to show the presence of greatness. The majority are commonplace, and a great many are useless, while the supreme court will doubtless show during the next few months that others are not to have a place among the statutes of Ohio. The session has been marked by scandal. During the battle for the senatorship bribery was openly charged, and for improving Huston road. The conlater a committee was appointed to in- tract will be awarded to the lowest revestigate other charges made by other members. It has been a notorious fact for weeks that one of the most expensive lobbies in the history of the state certain legislation, no attempt having been made to conceal the purpose of the of Easter novelties, useful and beautiful. lobbyists.

For this condition the people are responsible, and they should lose no time in providing the remedy. This can be found in the selection of men who possess sufficient knowledge of the needs of Ohio to enact only such laws as are needed, and who are morally able to stand out against the temptations thrown before the average statesman.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW-In reading Headley's "History of the Great Rebellion," I find that in December, 1861, the situation between President Lincoln and congress, relative to the war, was very similar to the present with President McKinley and both houses of congress. The United States government is sometimes served for years by valuable servants who are not even boarded at the expense of the government. These servants are cats. Rats are one of the persistent dangers that threaten the United States mail. They destroy the bags and the mail matter. The postoffice building in New York city is a large building and now many years old. It is said that there are 60 cats in the building cared for by the clerks. Some of the cats have never lived anywhere else; others bave come in from the neighborhood. The cats who have known only this home are very shy of strangers and will come only to the clerks in the building. For members of the session, three years, J. A. George, J. C. Allison and William Fisher. A number of scattering ballots were cast, but the three received a majority of all votes and the clerk was instructed to cast the ballot for the congregation.

For deacons, three years, Howard Hill, Edward Surles, C. H. Blazier and J. W. Gipner were nominated and the ballot resulted in the election of Messrs. Hill, Surles and Gipner.

For trustees, J. M. Kelly, John W. Hall and J. J. Purinton were elected for three years, and J. R. Warner for the one year term to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of F. W. Fowler. Sherman T. Herbert was selected treasurer and M. F. Albright, clerk. It was decided to leave the appointment of choir leader and ushers with the session.

COMMITTEE AND ASSOCIATION

Are Very Anxious to Have the Matter Submitted Again to the People, and at the Meeting Tonight Will Take the Required Action -Some Reasons Given.

At the meeting of the hospital committee and association this evening steps will be taken to have council submit the matter of issuing bonds once more to a vote of the people. It is argued that the average voter did not understand the question. He believed the bond issue meant increased taxes and more burdens than he was able to carry. It has been shown, however, that this is wrong, and any number of people who voted against the plan are now willing to cast their ballots in its favor. Another argument is that the city will never have a hospital if the city does not build it. The association will support it and pay all running expenses after the site is secured and the structure erected, but its members do not hope to collect sufficient money to create the necessary buildings. That is beyond them for a good many dollars are re-

Another good point is that a number of people are now lying ill in lodging houses in the city who should be in the hospital. Some of them have no friends, and the care they receive is not calculated to return them to health speedily. One member of the committee, who is particularly axious to have the hospital built, told a NEWS REVIEW man last night that he knew of no less than three cases of that kind.

The association has some money on hand at present, and if council does not feel like paying the expenses of a special election its members will vote to appropriate funds sufficient for that purpose provided council will make the election legal. Of course they would rather have the bill paid by the city for they would then have more money with which to carry out their plans.

The committee have a number of sites in view, should the project ever go beyoud its present stage, but they will not locate them for the benefit of the public just now. They say, however, that any one of the sites, would not only answer every purpose, but would please the public.

THE MAINE DISASTER.

Some Interesting Incidents Described by Survivers of the Battleship.

Here are some interesting incidents of the recent Maine disaster: Many of the surviving sailors, especially those who were badly wounded, do not recollect anything of the explosion except that they found themselves in the water, and some of them do not even remember that as they were picked up unconscious and came to their senses in their cots at the hospital.

One man with whom I spoke the other day could not realize what day of the week it was.

William Magniness, who was hurled from his hammock, awoke, believing the ship had been struck by shots fired from the Spanish forts. This idea so occupied his mind that during the two days he was at the hospital he was constantly talking fight.

William Gartrell, a fireman, was three decks down and was blown through them without suffering a scratch. He was the only one from the lower part of the ship who was saved. First Class Gunner Bullock, seeking a cool place to sleep, was lying in the after turret. When the explosion occurred, he found himself astride the big cannon, which had shifted to one side. Not knowing how to escape, he finally squeezed himself through the gunport, which was quite a difficult undertaking, as the hole was hardly big enough to admit the passage of his body.

Joseph Lutz, a marine, was blown from his hammock and went with the flying debris into the air. He landed again on deck, began hunting for his shoes and trousers and then jumped overboard.

Captain Sigsbee tells me that the coolness and bravery displayed by William Anthony are commendable. Anthony is a private in the marines. He was stationed as orderly at the door of the captain's quarters. At the moment of the explosion the captain was writing a letter to his wife. All the lights were immediately extinguished. The captain arose and attempted to make his way through the long passage leading to the dock, and as the ship was toppling to one side and sinking fast Captain Sigsbee groped his way with difficulty. He finally bumped against a man who proved to be Orderly Anthony. The orderly first begged the captain's pardon and then very coolly said:

"Sir, I have come to report to you that the ship has been blown up and she is fast sinking."

Captain Sigsbee says that any ordinary man would at that time have thought how to save himself rather than go inside a dark passage of a sinking vessel, not knowing if he would ever come out again.

On board were three cats, a young tabby and two toms. The older tom was born on board a monitor at the Brooklyn navy yard 13 years ago. He was a tar by birth and had served all his life in the United States navy. He paid no attention to tabby and had the good record of never having held moonlight concerts on roofs or sown his wild oats on back fences. The officers, seeing his disregard for Tabby, bought on shore only two days before the accident a young Cuban tom, who, to distinguish him from Old Tom, was named Young Tom. He and Tabby perished in their honeymoon. Old Tom, who was three decks below, was also thought to have been lost, but was discovered recently by Commander Wainwright crouched and meowing pitifully on a pile of wreckage on deck.

He has been taken on board the Fern, where the sailors are giving him the best of care and where he has assumed again his old post of the senior cat in 7@11c. the United States navy.

Peggy, the little pug dog of Captain Sigsbee, who never abandoned his side while on board and who once fell and broke her leg while trying to climb af er him up the ladder of the top bridge, was at the captain's side when he took to the boat. She was trembling with fright; but, taking in consideration that she is only a young pug and that the explosion was tremendous, Captain Sigsbee says she is excusable.

All the survivors of the Maine lost everything they had. Many landed with hardly any clothing, and all are today lamenting the loss of some valuable personal effects which money cannot replace. Father Chidwick, the chaplain, grieves over the loss of a gold chalice which the crew of the Maine gave him and which he says was the worldly belonging which he most prized.-New York Sun.

Montana's Costly Wolves.

The largest wild beast bounty payment ever made in any state is now being made at Helena, Mon. It amount. to $50,096 and represents the balance due on the state's payment on the skins of 16,698 wolves and coyotes killed in 1897. The total cost to Montana's state government for the killing of these animals in 1897 amounts to $85,657, though claims for more than $150,000 were filed and verified. Besides this great sum paid by the state, at least as much more is paid by counties and 2 white, 32%c. private stockmen. It is estimated that the cost to Montana of keeping its wolf supply stationary-for the bounty has all is to for farming the problem & I not less than $400,000 a year.

BUY UNION MADE GOODS.

Union Workmen and Sympathizers Should Ask For the Label.

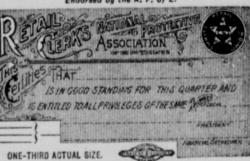

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods

The Union Label in every industry is

The Union Label committee of Trades council having been instructed to secure and publish a fac-simile of different Union Labels, in order to more thoroughly acquaint the public with the same, they herewith present the following. It is the purpose of the committee purchases you should ask for labeled goods. Be on your guard for false and counterfeit labels.

If Council Orders Another Bond Election.

COMMITTEE AND ASSOCIATION

Are Very Anxious to Have the Matter Submitted Again to the People, and at the Meeting Tonight Will Take the Required Action -Some Reasons Given.

At the meeting of the hospital committee and association this evening steps will be taken to have council submit the matter of issuing bonds once more to a vote of the people. It is argued that the average voter did not understand the question. He believed the bond issue meant increased taxes and more burdens than he was able to carry. It has been shown, however, that this is wrong, and any number of people who voted against the plan are now willing to cast their ballots in its favor. Another argument is that the city will never have a hospital if the city does not build it. The association will support it and pay all running expenses after the site is secured and the structure erected, but its members do not hope to collect sufficient money to create the necessary buildings. That is beyond them for a good many dollars are required.

Another good point is that a number of people are now lying ill in lodging houses in the city who should be in the hospital. Some of them have no friends, and the care they receive is not calculated to return them to health speedily. One member of the committee, who is particularly axious to have the hospital built, told a News Review man last night that he knew of no less than three cases of that kind.

The association has some money on hand at present, and if council does not feel like paying the expenses of a special election its members will vote to appropriate funds sufficient for that purpose provided council will make the election legal. Of course they would rather have the bill paid by the city for they would then have more money with which to carry out their plans.

The committee have a number of sites in view, should the project ever go beyoud its present stage, but they will not locate them for the benefit of the public just now. They say, however, that any one of the sites, would not only iswer every purpose, but would please the public.

THEY ARE SORE.

Some of Gilbert's Friends Lost a Lot of Money

It is said there are some very sore men in the city, and they have been sore for several days. Their condition was brought about by the fact that they had received from what they believed was a reliable source a number of tips to bet on Gilbert. The money was placed, some of it at odds, but it never came back. When they remember the Bough vote, they think the "friends" who pretended to know all about the situation should have saved them.

BUY UNION MADE GOODS.

Union Workmen and Sympathizers Should Ask For the Label.

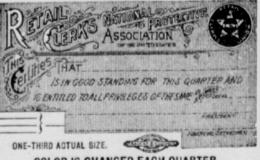

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent work-

The Union Label committee of Trades council having been instructed to secure and publish a fac-simile of different Union Labels, in order to more thoroughly acquaint the public with the same, they herewith present the following. It is the purpose of the committee purchases you should ask for labeled goods. Be on your guard for false and counterfeit labels.

SPAIN EXPECTED TO BACK DOWN.

powers of Europe Forcing Her and There Is Talk of an Armistice-A Cablegram From Lee Held Back the Mesage Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, April 7 .- Not only will there be no message from the president on the Cuban question this week, at least not before Monday of next week, but there is at least a possibility the message written and approved may never go to congress at all. The first reason for the delay was that the administration received advices from General Lee at Havana indicating that all Americans could not be gotten off the island and would be in grave peril if the message preceded their departure. The second reason, and perhaps equally potent with the other, slowly arifted chiefly through the medium of dispatches from Madrid. for extreme reticence was maintained on the subject by the few in Washington who knew the facts-and even cabinet officers were unadvised on the subject-that the Spanish government, after what plainly had been most exciting times in inner Spanish circles at Madrid, had decided to reopen the case closed, so far as this government was concerned, by the refusal of Spain to make satisfactory response to the representations made by the United States last week and, in order to avert impending war, had decided to make concessions heretofore refused.

What will be the final outcome it is too early to say, but the aspect of affairs and sufficient to renew the hope of the president in a solution of the Cuban question satisfactory to the American people and achieved without bloodshed. The details remain to be worked out. but it is expected that between now and Monday a clearer light will be thrown on the future by action at Madrid, of which one important feature at least is the declaration of an armistice by the queen regent of Spain. This armistice. it is expected, will lead to ultimate independence of Cuba from Spanish rule, but by what intermediate steps perhaps the governing powers do not at this time know. Much, it is supposed, will depent upon the Cuban insurgents and United States and Spain.

The powers of Europe, material and Spain, and still are actively at work seeking, by the wisest and most politic course necessary in view of the circumstances and sentiments of the two great nations involved, to bring peace out of the gathering war clouds. All the capitals in Europe have been in communication to this end, a fact evidenced by the assemblage at the British embassy, in this city, of the representatives of the six great powers of Europe, who then and there were made mutually acquainted with what had been done abroad and with the desire of those who accredited them to Washington that they should work in accord here, this concert, however, in the United States, not to go beyond a mild tender of good offices to secure peace and delay a definite declaration of war if hostilities finally become inevitable. Some of the representatives assembled at Sir Julian Panneefote's may have wished to offer mediation, but, if so, were warned against it by others in the conference, who understood more clearly that such a procedure would be resented and work to hostile and not to peaceful ends.

The improved condition of affairs was reflected throughout all public quarters. It was manifested at the White House, among cabinet officers and at the embassies and legations, including the Spanish legation. At the latter establishment Senor Polo y Bernabe said that while he could not disclose any of the information reaching him in an official character, yet he felt that the strain of a few hours ago was materially relieved, and that the prospects for peace looked much brighter. He in no way confirmed, nor would he even discuss, views entertained in other high official quarters that Spain was slowly but surely yielding, and confined his utterances to the general statement that conditions were improving.

Accompanying the actual developments came a flood of report and rumor of a sensational character, little of it, however, having any authentic basis. The rumors of disturbance at Havana were not borne out by any official advices here.

The uncertainty following a great disappointment was the condition existing at the capitol at the close of the day when the expected did not happen. Senators and members were at sea as to what was coming next.

While the message was awaited there came a hurried summons of leaders of the senate and house to the White House, and they were there informed hat the message was to be withheld apon the information of the deneral Lee. The reasons he gave were deemed entirely satisfactory all and Senator Danis informed the senate while the house leaders carried the news to that body. That the danger to American life was considered sufncient for non-action appeared in the postponement of all proposed meetings to consider the situation.

The state department officials are anticipating with much interest and apprehension the probabilities of the coming Easter ho idays in Spain and Cuba. It is at such times that the peeple, especially when great national questions are uppermost in the public mind, are apt to give way to their fe lings and indulge in riotous demonstrations. These holidays began today, which is Holy Thursday, and continue for several days.

Many of his men are cavalry. It is believed that by this time General Garcia has crossed the trocha in the vicinity of the plantation San Nicolas and been joined by General Maximo Gomez, and that these combined forces, making fully 4,000 men, are now enroute for the provinces of Matanzas and Havana on the long threatened raid for which arrangements were made by the mission from General Gomez sent westward prior to the conference, in which the autonomists sought to induce General Garcia and other insurgent leaders to surrender.

Debated the Army Bill.

Washington, April 7 .- The debate in progress in the house over the army reorganization bill attracted little or no attention. It was completely overshadowed by the more absorbing question. Considerable opposition to the bill developed on the ground that its provision for an extension of the regular army in time of war to 104,000 men would be inimical to the national guard and the volunteer forces, upon which the country had heretofore relied in time of stress.

There was a large attendance last evening at the meeting of Trades council, and much business was transacted.

After the minutes had been approved the bill at present in the legislature to abolish contract prison labor and to provide for the employment of convicts in such a manner as not to interfere with free labor, was introduced and referred to committee. The committee reported in favor of the bill, and introduced resolutions, a copy of which were ordered sent to Hon. P. M. Ashford, and the author of the bill, Hon. M. F. Bramley.

Frank T. Byers, representative of the cigar makers' union, was obligated. A communication from S. G. Carter called attention to non-union bicycles, while one from Henry G. White advocated the wearing of union clothing. The Globe Shoe company asked the council to push the selling of stamped shoes. The communications were referred to the label committee.

The tailors' union reported a list of the union merchant tailors in the city, "Extra guards of mounted police have and the secretary was instructed to farnish all local unions with a list.

> The legislative committee brought up the Hess bill, which provides that all building associations shall furnish the auditor with a list of their members. They asked that council adopt resolutions condemning the bill, but as no one was familiar with it the committee were instructed to secure a copy of the bill and report at the next meeting.

Chairman Pittenger, of the label committee, requested all delegates to report to their locals and advocate the use of label goods.

The secretary was instructed to correspond with Chairman Boyer, of the state legislative committee of the State Federation, and secure a copy of all bills before the legislature of interest to working men.

A communication was read from Max Morris, secretary of the National Retail Clerks union, expressing thanks to the council for the interest taken in label

There will be only one more meeting of this council, as the delegates will all $50 to $100 down, balance in monthly be required to furnish new credentials at the first meeting in May.

NEXT WEDNESDAY

Will George Heisler and Miss Burford Be Married.

George Heisler and Miss Anna Burford will be united in marriage next Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burford, in the presence of a few friends, Doctor Lee and Reverend Swift down to the smallest article, such as fully 4,000 men, are now enroute for the officiating. They will leave on the provinces of Matanzas and Havana on evening train for an extended eastern trip. The young couple have a host of friends in the city.

Dismissed the Case.

The case of Clara Barton against her husband, Albert Barton, for non-support was heard yesterday afternoon by Squire Rose.

The suit was settled by the husband agreeing to support the child and giving an order on his wages for $5 every two weeks. The arrangement was made satisfactory to both parties and the case was dismissed.

Still Looking For Thieves.

Cleveland and Pittsburg detectives who were spending some time in the city recently looking after the people who stole a lot of beer, have, it seems, given up the idea of finding them. The officers, when questioned about their work on the cases, say very little, and nothing is known at police headquarters of their doings.

Changed Engines.

Shifting engine 668, which has been extensively repaired in the Wellsville shops, was placed in commission this morning. The engine was used by the pony crew in this city, and the boys were glad of its return. Pony 696, which was used in its place, is in Wellsville.

Will Be Heard Saturday

In the court of Squire Rose suit has been commenced by William Hubbard against W. H. Grafton for $17.14.
